

Langtang - Gosainkunda - Helambu Trekking

4609-meter-high Lauribina pass is an incredible adventure that offers stunning views of the massive Himalayas over 7000 metres, holy Lake Gosainkunda, rhododendron forests, alpine plants, and wildlife. This trek starts out from Syabrubeshi (148 northeast of Kathmandu) and concludes in Melamchi Pool Bazaar. You will stroll along the Langtang Khola, passing through bamboo and rhododendron trees.

Trekking through Langtang Valley (3,430m), you will arrive at Kyanjing Gumpa Village (3,870m), where you will witness the spiritual lifestyle of Buddhist monks performing their ceremonies at the monastery. Take a short hike to Kyanjing Ri (4800m) or Tserko Ri (5,000m) for spectacular views of the Langtang Lirung (7,200m), beneath the Langtang glacier, Dorje Lapka (6900m), and the Langtang River. We will journey via the lovely settlements of Thulo Syabru, Sing gumpa, and Cholangpati on our way to Gosainkunda Lake, which is at an elevation of 4380 metres. After crossing the Laurebinayak pass (4,609m), you will hike through some lovely land terraces and a couple of splendid Buddhist monasteries in the pleasant villages of Helambu, Tarke Gyang, and Sermathang (2,621m) before returning to Kathmandu via Melamchi Pool bazaar.
